MEET WITH AN ADVISOR (BY APPOINTMENT OR DROP-IN) AT STEELE BUILDING.

TOGETHER, COMPLETE A MAJOR/MINOR DECLARATION FORM.

ACCESS THE LATINA/O STUDIES MINOR ADVISING SHEET HERE:

Remember, UNC requires you to declare a major by the second semester of your sophomore year. If you have not declared a major by the Pre-registration period for that semester, you will not be able to register for the following term until you have declared a major.

¡So register for LTNO today!

The Latina/o Studies minor encourages and supports bilingualism (especially fluency in English & Spanish). Unlike the Hispanic Studies minor, LTNO has no specific language requirements. All undergraduate students, including non-Spanish speaking students, can fulfill the LTNO minor. The minor was approved March 2004 in the College of Arts & Sciences and has been in existence since its inauguration September 2004. Though the minor is “housed” in English & Comparative Literature, students are not required to take an English literature course to complete the minor, though many of the courses for the humanities/fine arts requirement are offered through the Department of English & Comparative Literature.
